THE WORLD OF FASHION.

Another Very Lively Week for the Pleasure Seekers in Society.

A Springfield Peculiarity. Receptions and Card Parties of the Past Week, and Who Attended Them—Dates for the Future Rapidly Filling Up—Personal Points.

Although there was not quite so much gaiety crowded into the past week as in its predecessor, yet it contained a goodly number of brilliant social events and as yet there seems to be no rest for the giddy. The party-giving epidemic shows no signs of dying out, as there are plenty of events in process of materialization to keep the ball rolling until after the holiday season. Doubtless this continual round of dissipation is very charming for the ladies, who can dance by night and sleep by day with no other care than their calls and their toilet-etc; but it is already beginning to tell on the men, particularly the younger portion of them, who are due at their places of business at seven and eight o'clock in the morning. Working all day, rushing through a hasty supper and toilet, in order to be on the festive scene by half past seven, and dancing or playing cards until after midnight is very exciting and entertaining occasionally; but when it comes to be a regular thing six nights in the week, it has a strong tendency to produce late breakfasts, carelessness work and haggard faces. There is one peculiarity about Springfield very striking to a stranger, which speaks very well for the healthy state of its society. It is that in its best circles of society there are no drones, no young men who live on their parents' or by their wives, young men who make pleasure their business, who have no other object in life than to kill time. This class will doubtless come when the city grows older, and when families have been wealthy long enough for the children to forget that their fathers or grandfathers were bread-winners. But as yet the sturdy young city is free from this nuisance. Most of her young men of good social position are comparatively poor, and those who have money are as truly members of the work-a-day world as those who have not. This fact has in the past had a tendency to make society rather dull in Springfield, but it seems to have had no influence toward stemming the tide of gaiety this winter.

On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crane entertained seven tables at progressive euchre very handsomely at their residence on South Yellow Springs street. Those who participated in the exciting contest were Messrs. and Mesdames Link, Loun, John Dinsol, R. F. Hayward, A. Clarke, H. Purcell, John Carey, R. D. Bruce, Ed. Crane, of Philadelphia, Stewart Morrow, Miss Lizzie Prottman, of Cincinnati, Miss Lushbaugh, Miss Ella Myers, Miss Stoler, Messrs. John Zimmerman, Will Webb, Morris Hayward and Robert Reiter. The supper, which was served at 10 o'clock, was one of the most elegant little spreads given this season. The fortunate winners were: First prize, Mrs. Bruce and R. F. Hayward; "boobies," Mrs. Clarke and John Carey. Following the usual custom of this season, progression alone was counted, and games at the lower tables were stopped after five points were won.

On Thursday evening Dr. and Mrs. T. R. Potter, of East High street, entertained a small number of friends with a very charming tea party. Covers were laid for ten, and those who partook of their genial hospitality were Dr. and Mrs. Casper, Mr. and Mrs. William Black, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Higley, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Wallace.

On Monday evening Miss Baldwin gave a very successful progressive euchre party at her handsome home on South Market street, in honor of her guest, Miss Landon of Chicago. She was graciously assisted in receiving and entering her guests by Mrs. Sam. McGrew and Mr. T. F. McGrew, Jr. There were ten tables arranged in a parlor and sitting room. Gathered about them were the following contestants: Mrs. Judge Bookwalter, of Cincinnati, Dr. and Mrs. Seys, Messrs. and Mesdames Chandler, Robbins, Baldwin, McGrew, Charles Fisher, Misses Landon, of Chicago, Alice Ewing, of Columbus, Lizzie Nixon, of Dayton, Sally Cunningham, Sadie Rodgers, George Rose, Carrie Douglass, Mary McKnight, Mary Cassidy, Louie Baldwin, Mary Rodgers, Sue Burbank, Louie Buxton, Messrs. John Zimmerman, R. H. Huntington, H. H. Moore, Will Rabbitts, Chase Stewart, Ralph Bartholomew, Joe Sharp, T. J. Pringle, James Rodgers, Randolph Coleman, Den and Will Rodgers, and Russell Seeds. An elegant repast was served at ten o'clock and the excitement was continued until midnight. The prizes, in harmony with the other appointments of the party, were handsome and in excellent taste. Progression alone was counted and the contests were unusually close for the first prizes in the parlor and for the trophies in the sitting-room. The successful players in the parlor were Miss Rose and Mr. Moore for first prize; and Miss Louie Baldwin and Mr. Huntington for the trophy. In the sitting-room the first prize were won by Mr. Fisher and Mr. Robbins; the trophies by Mrs. Baldwin McGrew and Mr. Sharp.

On Thursday afternoon Misses Fannie and Sadie Rodgers, assisted by Mrs. Edie Rodgers, received their lady friends with graceful hospitality at their residence on North Limestone street. Among their many callers were Mesdames William Rose, L. M. Potter, S. F. McGrew, William Bice, L. Seys, E. S. Hensley, Dr. Fitzgerald, Charles Rowley, Ed. Bowman, M. M. Hodges, Henry Frey, G. S. Fox, Chandler Robbins, Frank McGrew, A. McW. Wilson, Joe Cartmell, Rob. Rodgers, Dr. Falconer, Messrs. Julia Harland, Sally Cunningham, Lizzie Bishop, Nora White, Fannie Benson, Dolly and Emily Warden, and others.

On Friday evening Judge and Mrs. Judge Miller threw open their handsome and commodious residence on South Market street in honor of their son Robert and his bride, on their return from their wedding journey. Over three hundred invitations had been sent out and fully two hundred and twenty-five people responded, crowding the spacious parlors to their utmost capacity during the early portion of the evening. Judge and Mrs. Miller received the guests, and were graciously assisted by Misses Ella Miller, Louie Baldwin, Anna Hall and Fannie Barber. The bride's mother, Mrs. Schaeffer, also assisted in the entertainment of the guests. The supper, a complete and elegant affair in four courses, was served in the dining room from half past eight until eleven o'clock. Among the many guests present were Messrs. and Mesdames G. S. Fox, S. Jerome Eld, Henry Baldwin, W. E. Downer, Col. White, Dr. Falconer, Dr. Webb, George Spence, D. P. Jeffers, W. R. Horner, C. C. Taylor, Baldwin McGrew, E. P. Christie, H. S. Snowers, G. H. Hoffelinger, William Grant, Mesdames Wilcox, Hawk, and Hoglen, of Dayton, Mrs. J. P. Winters,

Arthur, John Zimmerman, Dr. Baldwin, Robert Baneroff, Ed. Gillett, Rob. Hodges, Arthur Perfect, Chase Stewart, Charles Jeffries, John Chorpensing and others.

Miss Anna Murphy, of East High street, entertained four tables at drive whist in a thoroughly charming manner last Friday evening. Play began early and ended shortly after 12 o'clock, being interrupted long enough to dispose of a delicate repast served at 10 o'clock. Her party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cartmell; Misses Julia Harland, Anna Bishop, Nellie Thomas, Nora White, Hattie Bushnell, Mary McKnight, Misses A. N. Summers, Dr. John Buckingham, Dr. Diamond, Henry Weeman, Den, Rodgers, Joe Sharp, and Will Thomas. Dr. Diamond and Miss Baldwin were the winning players, their score showing a balance of thirty-two games over those lost.

Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Mast opened their elegant residence on West High street Thursday evening to their friends of St. Paul church, and entertained them very handsomely. Fully three hundred invitations had been issued and as there were few regulars the spacious parlors were well crowded. Mr. and Mrs. Mast received in the front drawing room, assisted by their daughters, Mrs. Harry Frey and Misses Lizzie and Florence Mast.

A splendid supper was served from 8 o'clock onward on small tables arranged in the dining and sitting rooms, and those who partook of the royal hospitality of the house were: Rev. and Mrs. Henry Tuckley, Gen. and Mrs. Deardorff, Messrs. and Mesdames George Winwood, Samuel Martin, G. Covers were laid for thirteen and the following ladies were present: Mesdames Ellis, Phillip Weiner, Sadie Phillips, C. C. Taylor, B. C. Taylor, Dr. Lewis, John Winger, Laura Coleman, Dr. Nobles, Ben Beale and Mrs. Henderson.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY

To Select Christmas Presents for Gentlemen Friends Who Are Smokers.

W. N. Carter, proprietor of the Palace cigar store, Lagonda House Block, has made arrangements by which his customers may avail themselves of an unusual opportunity in selecting a Christmas present or an article for themselves. Mr. Carter, Donnelly, representing the largest manufacturing and importing firm in the United States in smokers' articles, will be here tomorrow, and will have his samples displayed in such a manner that Carter's customers may inspect them and make any selections they may choose, thus not only getting as fine a stock as there is in the country to choose from, but also getting the advantage of the very lowest possible prices. The stock which Mr. Donnelly is displaying embraces an exquisite line of merchandise, including pipes and cigar and cigarette holders, silver match and tobacco boxes, cigar and cigarette cases, snuff boxes and tobacco pouches and bags, gold and silver-headed canes, etc. Nothing nicer could be selected than one or more of the above articles for a Christmas present, and now that such a rare opportunity is offered by Mr. Carter, many will undoubtedly take occasion to benefit by it. Ladies are especially invited to call and make selections.

Change of Time.
Citizens on South Limestone, West High, and South Yellow Springs street, have complained that they never could remember the time of the street cars, which have been running on this street every thirteen minutes. In order to avoid this difficulty, the management have changed the time to fifteen minutes, bringing the cars at the terminal and the Center street switch on even quarter hours.

The police were ordered last night to have all beer kegs, stone bowls and show goods removed from the sidewalks. This is a good move in the right direction, and if it was more strictly enforced there would be fewer accidents than there are, to say nothing about the kicking.
